

TWO LOCAL BUSINESS BODIES UNITE

Credit Men and Protective Association Consolidated Monday Night.

The credit bureau of the El Paso Association of Credit Men and of the Business Men's Protective Association were consolidated Monday night, at a meeting of the board of directors of the latter body, held in the association's offices, 419 Caples building.

A letter from Claiborne Adams, president of the credit men's body, was read announcing that, at a special meeting of the board of directors of the Credit Men's association, it was decided to accept the proposition made some time ago by the protective body, and to discontinue the reporting department, and consolidate the files with those of the Business Men's Protective Association. The credit men's board of directors have agreed to become members of the protective association.

The new arrangement will in no way conflict with the adjustment and collection bureau of the El Paso Association of Credit Men. Only the joint credit bureau will be handled by the protective association. In every other respect the associations will remain separate entities.

New Members Elected.

The following firms were elected members of the protective association's wholesale department Monday night: Loretz-Pegrum company, Purdy Baking company, Rio Grande Valley Bank and Trust company, Rio Grande Ice and Fuel company, Kelly & Pollard, Globe mills, and Crombie & Co. Others elected to membership were the El Paso Auto and Battery company, Proper Brothers, International Auto company, R. F. Holmes grocery, and Charles Rader. The membership of the association is now 217, which makes the organization the third largest merchant association in Texas.

The purchase of two safe cabinets for the safekeeping of the association's records, was approved Monday night.

The following were present at the meeting: Walter S. Clayton, president; Jean H. Clark, business agent; R. C. Semple, John R. Watson, A. S. Jacobs, and G. P. Putnam.

STEAM RUSHING FROM PIPE CAUSES A FIRE ALARM

Quantities of steam rushing from a broken pipe in the basement of the Stevens building caused a fire alarm to be turned in Monday morning at 8:44 o'clock. Investigation developed that the steam came out of the basement made it appear that the building was on fire. It is not known who turned in the alarm.

John M. Tomlin, a roomer at the Lawrence hotel, experienced a narrow escape from being badly burned late Monday night when the bedding on which he was lying became ignited, while he was asleep. The fire was discovered by A. R. Gonzalez, manager of the hotel, and an alarm turned in.

STANDARD OIL ON COAST GRANTS EIGHT HOUR DAY

CLASSIC MUSIC PROGRAM GIVEN

Theodore Knox Concert Party Earns Appreciation of Audience.

A program of Grieg, Puccini, Schubert and other classic composers was given Monday night by the Theodore Knox concert party at the Alta Vista school. The offering constituted the second number of the J. S. White lecture and entertainment course, which is being given this season at the school under the auspices of the principal Mrs. Enrice R. Payne.

The opening number, the prelude to "Aida's Death" from Grieg's Guit suite, showed the audience at the very outset that the quartet approached their work from the viewpoint of artists. The subtle pianissimo of the Scandinavian master was well registered.

Wide variety of songs, such as "Silver Threads Among the Gold," appealed to the hearers no less than the more difficult "One Fine Day," "I Got It (Vedremo)," sung by Frances Smith Knox, who also scored a hit with her rendition of "Little Orphan Annie." Several selections were given in costume.

The impersonations of Theodore Knox were clever both in and out of action. Mr. Knox, flutist and impersonator, displayed remarkable vocal and facial plasticity, his portrayal of aged character types being particularly successful. Miss Joe Mathews, cellist and pianist, did her bit well, and Edward Cantler, violinist, admirably interpreted the spirit of Romy in his arpeggio dance selections. Mr. Cantler's rendition of Schubert-Kreisler's "Moment Musical" was likewise a delightful bit of playing.

Mrs. Payne is offering a high class of lyceum attractions, and deserves the support of El Paso's art lovers.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS

EDNA MAYO, CHILD OF NATURE.

"The return of Eve," the exquisitely beautiful picture which created a profound impression on so many Grecian patrons yesterday, will be shown at that theater again today. Miss Mayo, as "Eve," brought up in a veritable Garden of Eden, without any knowledge of the world of men and women, portrays the sweet, simple, trusting girl with unaffected charm that is delightful. Then, as the society debutante, in resplendent surroundings, beautifully crowned, she's a social bird that would add charm and grace to any social gathering. "The Return of Eve" is truly a beautiful picture—it shows nature's true beauty as God made it—and it shows the garish, extravagant beauty that is so much in evidence among the immensely wealthy. The story is that of a boy and a girl who were brought up as Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, and at the age of nineteen were forced, through circumstances, to abandon their Eden and go forth into the world of today. Those who want to see a picture that is thoroughly enjoyable should not overlook "The Return of Eve." It is showing at the Grecian today.—Adv.

"HER FATHER'S SON."

The Alhambra is today showing "Her Father's Son" with the charming Victorian Martin playing the leading part. This Paramount picture is from a scenario written by Mrs. A. Brand, of El Paso, and is a story of the son, before the war between the states, the days that will never be replaced; and the time when a sense of proportion of time and leisure were most appreciated when a minute was not made to yield to seconds but every moment was enjoyed tranquilly. A young girl in a southern mansion is successfully masquerading as a boy when the war brings the great upheaval. During this double personality beautiful Vivian Martin alternates between the roles of a handsome boy and a southern belle in a highly amusing manner. All reviewers have unstintingly praised this photoplay both for Mrs. Martin's portrayal and for Mrs. Brand's charming story.—Adv.
